

Dawes Startles English Audience

Who Made "Hell and Maria" Famous and Defied Senate Depicts Oratorical Volcano in Action.

London, July 17 (AP).—Ambassador Dawes today is in the English public eye more spectacularly than ever, with the English press carrying highly colorful accounts of his appearance yesterday noon at a luncheon at Vintner's Hall.

He indulged there in a vocal outburst on Anglo-American relations which brought him the characterization "Oratorical Volcano" in some papers and caused others to revert to his sobriquet, "Hell and Maria."

"Hell and Maria Dawes roared as he was on parade ground," the Daily Mail said, "while his audience sat silent, mesmerized, almost embarrassed, as the crescendo came."

"He shattered the ancient peaceful atmosphere of Vintner's Hall and left Lord Derby and Lord Riddell, who sat on either side of him, dodging his crashing fists."

England was also interested in his unconventional manner of dressing. He appeared at the function in a frocked tuxedo with a white shirt and a distinguished guest who sat at the speaker's table with him wore a conventional morning attire.

The ambassador "startled his audience," said the Daily Express, which noted that on previous occasions he had confined himself closely to manuscript, but came yesterday unprepared. After announcing he had "something to say," he immediately "dived into an oration on the relation between English and American peoples. His curiously harsh voice was raised to a high pitch. His actions and gesticulations were to match."

Ambassador Dawes in his speech declared nobody needed to explain to him how to get on with the English.

"During the war," he said, "I got to know the English better than a lifetime could have taught me. Our whole situation was saved by the self-sacrificing generosity of the English government and the English army."

"I do not know what the repercussions of this speech will be, and as a business man I am going to take a chance on the repercussions. I want to get these great peoples in touch, not to help them, but to be friendly but to prove they are friendly."

PICKET TOM GREENE NEW CHAMPION OF OHIO RIVER

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 17 (AP).—A thrilling revival of the steamboat races of fifty years ago elected a new champion of the Ohio river last night in the packet Tom Greene, victor over the Betsy Ann by a scant ten feet in a sprint to New Richmond, Ohio, 20 miles up the river.

On even terms from the start at 4:12 p. m., the stern wheelers battled to the last ounce of steam against the five-mile current as the two stacks forward raised clinders and coal on the quivering decks and the paddles astern churned the river to foam. Twenty feet apart the two craft fought to the finish line and the cheers of 10,000 spectators lining the banks at 7:33 p. m., two hours and 21 minutes after the start. Neither was ever more than a quarter length in the lead.

Tom Greene, 25, of a long line of rivermen, commanded the boat bearing his name. Frederick Way, Jr., 25, was in charge of the Betsy Ann. The Betsy Ann permanently lost a set of golden antlers, emblematic of a former championship of the Mississippi river, and the Tom Greene won a loving cup offered by merchants of New Richmond. The antlers are in the possession of the Greene Lines, Cincinnati.

There was color and noise in proportion at the start. A calliope set up a din which was heightened by the blast of boat whistles as the racers maneuvered into position. Heard above all others was the whistle of the Tom Greene itself. It is a chime and was the pride of the late Captain Christopher Greene, who when the owners refused to sell it bought an entire steamboat in order to own it.

LINDBERGH MAKE THEIR FIRST DIRIGIBLE FLIGHT

Los Angeles, July 17 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh made their first dirigible flight on their arrival at the Metropolitan Airport by plane from San Francisco. A blimp was anchored at the field when the couple arrived and they transferred to it for a 30-minute trip.

Lieutenant Karl Lange, pilot of the gas bag, said Lindbergh had the controls part of the time.

The colonel and his wife were laughing when they stepped from the blimp.

Russians Storm Chinese Embassy

Despite Announcement of What Was Considered a Conciliatory Communique From Nanking—Chinese Outrid Russians.

Moscow, Russia, July 17 (AP).—Moscow rang until an early hour today with popular protests and demonstrations against the Chinese government, despite announcement of what was considered a conciliatory communique from Nanking.

Russian and Chinese expatriates stormed the Chinese embassy on the Prapokhin Pereulok, throwing rotten eggs, sticks and stones, and smashing window panes. War helmets and heavily armed regiments of "Gaspaycu" (secret police), cavalry and infantry were hard put to restore order.

Inside the embassy the demonstration, which increased in intensity as night went on, caused a panic among the staff of 20 or more who huddled together in one of the rooms. They were worn, pale and haggard with hollow cheeks and sunken eyes from want of sleep.

Sia Wen Sun, Chinese diplomatic representative, told The Associated Press he had not left the embassy for two days and had not slept for two nights. He said he never was more pleased to see a visitor.

Meanwhile the Tass Agency, official Russian news disseminator, issued the following:

"Friends of peace breathed easier this evening when the Chinese diplomatic representative here submitted to the foreign office a conciliatory communique from Nanking, saying: 'Although the entire cable containing the Soviet protest demanding a reply by a given date has not been received, its main idea already is understood. Our government ordinarily maintains peaceful relations with the Soviet union and although the Marbin incidents necessitated taking measures regarding the Chinese Eastern Railway these cannot affect existing relations between the two countries.'

"Ambassador Chu Zao Yang will return to his post, but if the Soviet government has the same opinion of the subject it may be deliberated by both sides. In our opinion all problems must be solved on the basis of existing agreements and threshed out at the conference. Under such conditions the questions will be solved easily."

"The communique ended by declaring that the Nanking government would reply to the Russian note immediately the full text was received."

The demonstrators in front of the Chinese embassy consisted of large numbers of Chinese, many of them exiles, who outdid the Russians in their fervor. The Russians compared with the Chinese seemed comparatively peaceful.

ALLEGED RUM RUNNER DIES WHEN AUTO CRASHES.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 17 (AP).—Another alleged rum runner has bitten the dust of the hazardous rum trails that lead from the Canadian border to this city. Elijah E. Belgarde, only 21, and the second Plattsburg youth to meet death within the past month while being pursued by border patrolmen, was killed when his auto overturned. He was trying to bring in sixteen bags of ale, the patrolmen said.

Belgarde's efforts to stop pursuit yesterday by throwing roofing nails in the path of the government auto were fruitless. On reaching Moores forks, three miles from the border, he tried to swing his auto around, probably intending to head back for the border but the car overturned twice, landing on its wheels. Belgarde's skull was crushed.

The customs officers, P. H. Coleman and F. L. Coveney, said Belgarde loaded ale at Tonsontant Tromby on the Canadian side and was a half mile below the border when they sighted him.

Patrolman Coveney was with Weldon J. Cheatham, another officer, on the morning of July 15 when the latter allegedly shot Arthur Gordon, of Plattsburg, after Gordon refused to obey a command to stop his auto. Gordon died on the way to the Plattsburg Hospital and Cheatham is awaiting trial in that case.

COLONEL ROGERS'S BRIDE WILL BID FOR SOCIAL LEADERSHIP.

New York, July 17 (AP).—The New York American says today it is understood that the former Mrs. Basil Miles, recent bride of Colonel H. H. Rogers, will make a bid for New York social leadership on her return from Europe within the next two weeks.

The newspaper points out that the new Mrs. Rogers is beautiful, in her early thirties, has a wide acquaintance in America, a reputation for tact, a flair for wearing clothes and the backing of the Rogers Standard Oil millions.

An odd circumstance, the American says, is that she is an Austrian. Like Count Ludwig Salin Von Hoersingen, whose marriage to Millicent Rogers was bitterly opposed by the colonel. The marriage finally ended in a divorce and the Rogers heiress is now the wife of Arturo Ramos, a wealthy Argentine.

The former Mrs. Miles as Elvira Von Braun of Budapest was first married to Peabody Sewell, an Atlanta engineer, from whom she was divorced in 1924. A year later she married Basil Miles, of Philadelphia, who died a year ago.

2 Newspapermen Sentenced to Jail

As Result of An Editorial in the Cleveland Press Criticizing Judge Walther's Granting of An Injunction to Raising Interests.

Cleveland, July 17 (AP).—Louis B. Seitzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, and Carlton K. Matson, chief editorial writer, were held in contempt of court today by Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther. They were sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $500 each.

Judge Walther, who heard the charges brought by himself as a result of an editorial in the Press criticizing his granting of an injunction to racing interests, ordered immediate execution of the sentence.

The jurist denied a motion for a stay of execution, saying there was no statute to support it. Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war and chief attorney for the newspapermen, hurried to the court of appeals to attempt to obtain release on bond pending further efforts for a stay.

In spite of Baker's announcement that he would appeal at once to the appellate court, Judge Walther issued a call for Sheriff Henry to take the two men into custody at once.

The injunction involved was granted by Judge Walther to operators of the Flitdown race track restraining Sheriff E. J. Henry from interfering with use of the "contributor" system of betting, provided it is legal. The sheriff took the stand that the system was illegal and that therefore the order was not binding, and closed the track.

The Press, in an editorial published the same day the injunction was granted and twice revised in later editions, declared the injunction either "monstrous" or ridiculous, and accused Judge Walther of having been made the dupe of racing interests.

The judge instituted contempt proceedings, charging the editorial was libelous and contemptuous. He asserted that if the paper's statements were true, he is "not fit to sit upon the bench."

Baker argued strenuously for freedom of the press in the hearing which was concluded this morning when Judge Walther refused his motion to dismiss the charges. He also denied that the editorial was in contempt.

Both Wets and Dries Pleased

With Suggestions Bearing on Prohibition Contained in Letter of Chairman of President's Law Enforcement Commission.

Washington, July 17 (AP).—Proponents of both the wet and dry viewpoints have found something to their liking in the suggestions bearing on prohibition contained in the letter of George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, as read to the Governors' Conference at New London, Conn.

Comment was withheld in some quarters pending a clearer interpretation of his remarks on the subject. Among the dry spokesmen who did comment, the suggestion that prohibition enforcement responsibility be divided between the state and federal governments received the greater emphasis, while the wets apparently were more impressed by his remarks about the possibility of modification.

The sentence in his letter which thus proved at least partially pleasing to both groups read:

"If the national government were to attend to preventing importation, manufacture and shipment in interstate commerce of intoxicants, the states undertaking internal police regulations to prevent sale, saloons, speakeasies and so forth, the national and state laws might be modified so as to become reasonably enforceable, and one great source of demoralizing and pecuniarily profitable crime removed."

The sentiment contained in that and preceding sentences favoring more cooperation in enforcement efforts by the states brought prompt expressions of approval from Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury, and Commissioner Doran of the Prohibition Bureau, but they declined to comment on other aspects of the letter without further examination.

At the same time, the letter was hailed by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, a wet, as "an encouraging sign" that "a new leadership may arise which will substitute a sane rather than an unreasonable purblind attitude toward the prohibition question."

Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, another wet, interpreted the letter as publicly suggesting "to a conference of governors from all parts of the United States the modification of the Volstead act."

HAMILTON'S RETURN TRIP COST HIM 15 DAYS IN JAIL.

Victor Hamilton of New Rochelle, who on Tuesday morning was fined $5 in police court when arraigned on a charge of public intoxication, paid a return engagement to police court today when he was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. Tuesday afternoon Hamilton was making a nuisance of himself near St. Joseph's rectory on Wall street, and was placed under arrest.

Refrigerating System Blamed For Three Deaths

Chicago, July 17 (AP).—Lethal gas escaping from a mechanical refrigerating system yesterday was blamed for the deaths of three persons found asphyxiated in their apartment. The condition of the bodies and a leak in the building's refrigerating system indicated that methyl chloride gas, used as a refrigerant, was responsible for the deaths, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen said.

Those asphyxiated were Joseph Painter, 32; his wife, Mary, 21; and their infant son, Joseph, Jr. The parents were found dead in bed and the baby in its crib.

After investigating the tragedy, Coroner Bundesen ordered immediate suspension of operation of all mechanical refrigerating systems using methyl chloride gas and declared he would seek a special session of the city council to legalize the use of the gas.

Officials estimated that approximately 75,000 installations with perhaps 500,000 individual units would be put out of operation by the order.

Position of the bodies indicated that Mrs. Painter, perhaps feeling faint and realizing the impending danger, had tried to rise from her bed, but was overcome. The gas, except in large quantities, is almost odorless, officials said.

The refrigerating system operated from a central plant. A similar plant was blamed two weeks ago for the death of two persons.

Seek Reduction of Marketing Cost

New Farm Board Hopes to Boost Farmers' Returns and at Same Time Not Add to the Consumers' Expense.

Washington, July 17 (AP).—Reduction of marketing costs of agricultural products will be sought by the federal farm board as a means of boosting the farmers' returns without adding a corresponding increase to the consumers' expenses.

To accomplish this objective, the board has set itself to the task of organizing the farmer's marketing facilities on a gigantic national scale, working all the time "with aid through established groups of farmers who are organized or who may be organized on a basis of specific farm commodities."

Declaration of this policy was given in a statement by the board with an announcement that the members would go to Baton Rouge, La., July 29, to attend the meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, during which they expect to confer with national leaders in cooperative marketing.

The board's announcement warned that "deliberate" action must be expected. It was revealed that several appeals are pending from agricultural groups. But no hint was given as to the probable disposition of the $150,000,000 which the board already has available out of the $500,000,000 loan fund.

The board's decision to work through the farm organizations in its drive for reduced marketing costs is expected to lead to many conferences with the agricultural leaders. Regional commodity meetings are planned "as soon as time will permit" in such sections as the need for them becomes apparent.

Chairman Legge is enthusiastic about the rise in wheat prices. He says it is justified by crop reports and weather conditions both at home and abroad. "Although I would like to take as much credit as possible for it for the board," the "psychological effect" of the establishment of the board, he believes, has helped.

Four Killed When Train Hits Auto

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 17 (AP).—Two men and two women were killed and a girl was probably fatally injured today in an automobile accident. Their car collided with the engine of a railroad train on the Long Crossing near the village of Cambria, northeast of this city.

CONFERENCE ON AUTO LIABILITY LAW IN EFFECT THIS FALL.

Albany, July 17 (AP).—Provisions of the New York automobile financial responsibility act, effective September 1, will be the subject of a conference of state officials and insurance company representatives to be held in New York city Friday. Charles A. Hartnett, commissioner of motor vehicles, announced today.

The new law requires security for civil liability for personal injuries or death or damage to property caused by motor vehicles and makes mandatory the suspension of car registrations and driving licenses in certain instances, upon a failure to satisfy an affirmed judgment and upon conviction for various offenses.

The meeting will be held in the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. On the same day and at the same place there will be another conference called by Commissioner Hartnett to consider the new law relating to gasoline specifications and its enforcement. The intent of this law is to check the sale of adulterated gasoline, Mr. Hartnett explained.

Tax Reform Slow Says Gov. Byrd

Present System Archaic—Would Discard General Property Tax—Keep Real Estate for Local Taxation Only.

New London, Conn., July 17 (AP).—Progress in tax reform has been slow in the United States, Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia said today in addressing the governors' conference here on "Segregation of the Subjects of Taxation."

The work of revising and modernizing archaic systems of taxation has only begun in this country, he said, and the highly unsatisfactory general property tax which should have been discarded years ago still is in general use in most of the states of the union.

State rates are generally low in the general property tax plan, the governor explained, but when local levies are laid upon the same property the rates always are high and when the local rates are applied to intangible personal property they are found to be confiscatory.

"The reason for this is that real estate is grossly under-assessed in almost every state of the union," he continued, "whereas intangible personal property, such as bonds and notes, is not equally under-assessed. If it is assessed at all, but such intangible personal property is assessed at its actual worth."

In face of such evils, Governor Byrd said, some states are substituting the classified property tax for the general property tax. Segregation always involves classification, he explained, which provides for the setting apart of certain subjects of taxation for state taxation exclusively and of certain subjects for exclusive local taxation.

"The rock upon which segregation rests is the setting apart of real estate for local taxation exclusively. This is the fundamental idea, and most of the rest naturally and normally follows," he declared.

Under Virginia's classified property tax plan, he said, there is a complete separation of the sources of state and local revenue. Real estate, capital of merchants, machinery and tools used in making or manufacturing, and all taxable tangible personal property other than the rolling stock of corporations operating steam railroads, are subject to local taxation only.

Night Parachute Jump at Airport

Eric Lindgren Will Drop In Chute Which Will Be Illuminated With Electric Lights—Between 10 and 10:30 Tonight.

A night parachute jump will be staged this evening at Powell airport about 10:30 o'clock. Eric Lindgren, who has made many jumps here in the past two years, will make the jump. In order that the spectators may follow Eric in his drop the chute will be illuminated with electric lights of varied colors. For the past two nights Pilot Mollineaux and these flights have attracted a number of passengers and visitors to the field. In order to give the folks a thrill Lindgren has consented to try a night drop. This stunt has never before been pulled off in this vicinity but was performed some time ago at Rochester.

Moonlight passenger flying will continue again tonight and many people have made flights. The jump will be made between 10 and 10:30 tonight. The plane used is equipped with landing lights and the chute is fitted up with lights. When Lindgren goes over the side a switch controlling battery lights is thrown and the chute is lighted up during the drop.

Tuesday afternoon a tri-motored Ford plane paid a visit to the field coming up from Poughkeepsie with a number of passengers. An easy landing and take-off was made and the pilot pronounced the field in excellent shape. This plane will arrive Thursday afternoon at the local field and will remain over Friday and Saturday and possibly Sunday making passenger flights. The ship is a fifteen passenger all metal plane.

Youth Helped Self To a Gold Watch

Richard Smith, 14, of Hudson street, Arrested Tuesday on Charge of Stealing Watch from Standard Oil Station on Broadway—Watch Sold at Auction.

According to the story Richard Smith, 14, of 12 Hudson street told the police when he was arrested Tuesday by Officer Martin who charged him with juvenile delinquency, the boy was in the gas station of the Standard Oil Company on Broadway, at Hoffman street, and while there saw a gold watch and chain lying on the window sill. When no one was observing him he picked up the watch and put it in his pocket.

Later on Thomas street he met a negro to whom he sold the watch for $2. The negro later took the watch to Elmer Palen's auction where it was bid in for $3.60 by an unknown bidder, who disappeared with the watch a few minutes before Officer Martin arrived on the scene.

The boy was later paroled in custody of his mother to appear Thursday in children's court before Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

The watch was a Waltham gold watch with a mesh chain and was owned by George Shellman of 194 Albany avenue, an employee at the gas station. Mr. Shellman in reporting the theft to the police stated that the watch was valued at $50.

Pillsbury Against Tariff Provision

Washington, July 17 (AP).—The Senate Finance Committee today heard further testimony in opposition to the new provision in the House Tariff Bill subjecting Canadian wheat, milled in bond in this country for export to countries granting flour made from American wheat, preferential duties, to a tariff equal to such preference.

Such wheat intended for export to Cuba would pay a 30 per cent duty under the new provision, or about 35 cents a barrel.

John Pillsbury, of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, of Minneapolis, with plants in Buffalo, declared the change would mean that Cuba would buy direct from Canada the flour it now purchases from American millers. He declared there could be no basis for opposition to the general principle of milling in bond among domestic millers, because not one barrel of flour made from the Canadian product entered domestic markets.

He contended the Canadian wheat flour was especially desired by bakers in Cuba and that it was impracticable to export flour from high protein American wheat because such wheat could be sold entirely in domestic markets at prices above the world level.

Pillsbury testified that his company was prompted to establish mills in Buffalo to take care of its export business in Canada-manufactured wheat after a long struggle to secure the export trade in flour from America. He said a Canada placing an export tax on wheat entering the United States for milling in bond constantly was facing his and other companies.

Asked by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, if his Buffalo mill could not be moved across the border and mill Canadian wheat with cheaper labor, Pillsbury said it could, but it represented an investment of five or six million dollars and if moved the American employees would move with it at their same wages.

The witness said the only American millers favoring the change in law were a few in the southwest. As an owner himself of mills in Kansas and Oklahoma, he said, the advantage in the Cuban market these millers believe they would get would prove to be practically none.

Anonymous Note Led to Autopsy

An autopsy was performed in Brooklyn Tuesday on the body of Isadore Barnett, merchant, who died in the L. Kilia boarding house in Wawarsing, Ulster county, on Sunday.

Receipt of an anonymous note, said to hint at foul play, by Cleon B. Murray of Ellenville, assistant district attorney of Ulster county, led to the decision to make a post mortem examination. The note, details regarding which are withheld, purported to come from a lodge brother of Barnett, it is said.

Mr. Murray has learned that Barnett was accompanied on a week end visit to his wife at the Kilia house, by a business associate, M. Rosenberg, in Brooklyn. It is said a woman accompanied the two men.

Authorities in Brooklyn seized the body which was assigned to a New York undertaker, and arranged for the post mortem.

Poincare Forced To Remain in Bed

Nothing Serious but Premier Is Greatly Fatigued by Three Years' Hard Work—May Recover in Chamber Tomorrow or Friday.

Paris, July 17 (AP).—Premier Poincare, exhausted by five days of speechmaking in behalf of the French war debt accords with the United States and Great Britain, was compelled to remain in bed today.

Louis Barthou, deputy prime minister and minister of justice, made the announcement in the Chamber of Deputies. He said nothing serious was wrong with the premier but that he was greatly fatigued by three years' hard work.

He said the premier might be expected to reappear in the Chamber tomorrow or Friday.

After M. Poincare's decisive victory over his opposition in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the feeling today was he would have no difficulty in securing ratification of the debt accords before the end of the week.

His victory yesterday was two-fold, coming first when a postponement of debate motion was made a question of confidence and the premier won, 304 to 239. The second victory came without a roll call when the eloquence of Aristide Briand led M. Franklin Bouillon to withdraw a motion for postponement of ratification until the Young plan becomes operative.

M. Briand made one of the most eloquent speeches ever heard in the Chamber, which rarely has listened to such a burst of impromptu oratory.

Mr. Briand denied that America was a "Shylock." "I had," he shouted dramatically, "the formidable honor of being head of the government when the Americans entered the war. I know whereof I speak."

"The enemy was in the suburbs of Verdun. Those were hours of anguish. No one then believed that victory would perch upon our flags." The Chamber listened in stunned silence.

"In that desperate moment we called upon the men of the United States for our just cause. However bitter may be our internal debates in this painful discussion I can hear the heart of France beating in gratitude to America."

"I am saying these words so that the people across the seas will know that there are some moments Frenchmen will never forget."

LOTTE PICKFORD TO WED R. O. GILLARD

Los Angeles, July 17 (AP).—Lottie Pickford, screen actress, twice previously married, applied here yesterday for a license to wed Russell O. Gillard, 33, a Los Angeles undertaker.

Miss Pickford signed her name as Lotta Rupp, the surname being that of her first husband. She gave her age as 33. Apparently piqued because her use in using the name of her first husband had failed, she threatened to "tear up the papers," but almost immediately changed her mind.

When she appeared at the bureau with Gillard, Miss Pickford wore dark glasses and attempted to hide her face behind a handkerchief.

"I don't want anything about this in the papers," she told newspapermen. "I was trying to keep this marriage a secret."

Miss Pickford's first marriage was with Albert Rupp, New York stock broker, in 1912. She came to Los Angeles in 1917 and was divorced here in 1920. At that time she announced she would not marry again "even if the man had golden wings and a diamond halo."

However, in 1922 she was married to Allen Forrest Fisher, movie actor, from whom she received a divorce five years later. Miss Pickford is a sister of Mary and Jack Pickford, screen personages.

CHARGES AGAINST WESTERN RAILROADS DROPPED

Washington, July 17 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce Commission today announced that it had dropped anti-trust charges against the Kansas City Southern and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroads.

The anti-trust complaint was made by the commission against the railroads in connection with their purchase of stock in other carriers which the commission charged was without its authority. Since that time the railroads have disposed of the stock. This resulted in the commission dropping the case.

The Kansas City Southern purchased stock in the St. Louis Southwestern and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas obtained stock in the St. Louis Southwestern.

BABY GIRL SAVES AUTOMOBILE FROM THIEVES.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 17 (AP).—Earl J. Winters today was congratulating his six months old daughter on her work in saving his automobile from thieves last night. Mr. and Mrs. Winters left the baby in their machine while they went into a hospital to visit a friend.

When they came out the machine was gone, but the strong lungs of baby Marie Mary Patricia Winters had caused the thieves to abandon the machine a few blocks away, where police found it when they were attracted by her continued crying.

NEW YORK'S POWER.

Is New York's great and growing power a menace to the rest of the country? This would seem to be an absurd question, but it is seriously asked by persons of intelligence, and its explanation, or the cause of it, is to be found in such facts as the following: The Empire State pays 28.7 per cent of Federal taxes, income and miscellaneous. Though but one of forty-eight States, New York pays nearly three-tenths of the country's tax total to the Federal government. Moreover, while the country's total of payments to the Federal collectors increased by somewhat over 147 millions, New York's increase was somewhat over 90 millions, or 61 per cent of the national gain.

But what of it? Why should we fear the great prosperity of the Empire State? Because, says one observer, "big, bold, arrogant New York city stands on bed rock, rearing her massive structures to the sky, dominating the East and laughing at the challenge of the West." Is that really so? Another charge is that "more than once a Middle Western community has been tragically stricken by the outreach of New York's money power." But is there not a similar "outreach" of "money power" from all of the large urban centers, the only difference being that New York's financial arm is inevitably the longest and strongest?

With so many big, rich and powerful cities in every section of this great country, how can a single one that happens to be the biggest and richest "dominate" all the rest? New York city is our financial center and its power is great, but it is only a minor factor in the dominating political and social forces of this country. And the "power" of the Empire State seems to consist principally in its ability to pay a huge proportion of the nation's bills.

COLLEGE AND MARRIAGE.

It has again been noted that "college women are not marrying as much as they used to," and this time the chief reason given for their so frequent failure to wed is "the difficulty lots of them run against in finding college men whose conversation and companionship interest them." It is explained that college men now largely concentrate on commercial, technical and professional subjects, have no time for culture, so-called, and lack in appreciation of poetry, music and the other fine arts. And if college women find even college men lacking, what of the multitude of young business men who had to go to work early and let their sisters have all the college education their families could afford? "It's a situation which doesn't help marriage at all," according to the observer quoted above.

It may well be doubted whether many college women reject a suitor because of his lack of interest in poetry and the other fine arts. In this material age she is more likely to reject him because of his lack of abundance of money. And, though they like conversation of the "cultured" sort, other things in the daily life are regarded as more important. Love in a cottage, particularly with a "temperamental" poet, is likely to appeal nowadays only to very young and inexperienced girls. Probably the failure to marry of most college women is due to one of three reasons: they were not sought by a man they could love or were not sought at all; or the fascination of an independent "career" endured until it was too late; or they were victims of the often confessed modern shrinking from the responsibilities of motherhood.

THE COOLIDGE LETTER PLAN.

Noting that Mr. Coolidge's system of writing letters, "whereby he merely turns his correspondent's note over and pencils his reply on the back," has been "ascribed to his passion for economy," the New York World says: It would be better, it seems to us, to ascribe it to his common sense. Most of us, when you stop to think of it, use up about five times as much paper, ink and time on our correspondence as it really calls for. We make a separate letter out of every note we write. We take up space with a great number of "Your letter of the 12th inst. has been received and contents noted." We become conversant of a great jangling area of white space with only a few words on it. And seek to offset the absurdity of it by filling it with a lot of polite phrases that have little to do with the case. We make of a letter, in short, a ceremony out of all proportion to its real importance. In nice cases out of ten, if we used Mr. Coolidge's system, we could write "Can't. Sorry. C. C." and let it go at that. The letter would be attended to in less time than it would take to explain to a secretary what to do about it.

A somewhat similar plan is employed by the United States Army, which economizes effort and space by sending the same letter around and accumulating numerous "endorsements" on a single page. A formidable military establishment can afford this method, and presumably, as an ex-President, Mr. Coolidge can afford his. But what about the rest of us? Can we dare to follow the Coolidge plan, except perhaps in writing to the closest intimates? Both socially and in business there would seem to be no escape from the courtesy of a separate letter for every reply we write.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES W. BARTON, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
 Insulin Helps Kidneys.

I have tried to liken the structure of the liver to the eggs themselves and to cardboard divisions that hold the eggs in a crate. The eggs represent the liver cells and the cardboard divisions represent the framework that holds the liver cells.

Now when you have an inflammation in certain tissues of the body the regular tissue gets replaced by fibrous tissue which is just like the hard white scar tissue resulting from a burn.

Thus the liver gets inflamed, the framework increases in size; which leaves less room for the liver cells themselves. The lining of cells themselves also get inflamed.

The result is less liver cell surface and more hard fibrous tissue. This is what is called sclerosis or hardening of the liver.

However the liver is a very large organ, the largest in the body, and it keeps working away doing its best although often more than half of it is so hard that it is not much use.

Now the liver can get to the point where the jobs it has to do are too much for it and various things happen.

One of these is the swelling of the limbs and lower part of abdomen because the kidneys cannot do their own work and the work of the liver also.

An Italian physician reports a case of anaemia in which there was also this swelling of the feet and abdomen due to too much water being retained in the body.

He tried using the liver diet and the results were most surprising. Whereas before the use of liver diet the kidneys failed to get rid of more than 20 ounces of fluids, with the liver diet they got rid of four times that amount, that is 80 ounces.

After a few days of the liver diet as the swelling had been greatly reduced the liver diet was stopped, and on the fourth day the kidneys only removed about 30 ounces instead of 80.

The liver diet was then resumed and the kidneys removed 80 ounces daily again.

At the end of 15 days more, the swelling in feet and abdomen had completely disappeared.

The thought then is that if you can keep the liver free from infection from bad teeth, tonsils, or other source that it will enable the kidneys to do a perfect job in getting rid of fluid waste from the body. Also, the liver should be kept in good condition by not eating too much, especially rich or fatty foods.

RESERVES DECISION IN

TROY BREWERY CASE.

Federal Judge Frank Cooper at Albany reserved decision Tuesday on a motion by government representatives for a court order authorizing the destruction of thousands of dollars' worth of beer and equipment of the Quandt brewery. Troy, seized in a raid by special prohibition agents last month. A "consent padlock" of the brewery was directed by Judge Cooper, pending his decision set for July 24, at 2 p. m., upon agreement between the government attorneys and counsel for the brewery, who opposed the motion for a writ.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

SYNOPSIS: Sir Richard's name was reported missing in the morning. His wife, Lady, was in a state of shock. The story of the missing man and his wife's search for him is told in a series of chapters.

Chapter 20

ANOTHER WHIP

SIR RICHARD and the Parson stood motionless, intent gaze resting on the door, pistols cocked and aimed. And, after some while, was a quick, light tread of feet and Black Nick appeared.

"Plague on't, Nick, but ye're late!" quoth Rob. "What's kept ye?"

Nick shook his head gravely. "The roads, Sir Richard, is all watched for you—south to the coast and north to London!"

"Tis but to be expected," said Sir Richard.

"The justices seem mighty set on taking of ye—specially Sir John Parrel. I took a peep at him through the judas-ear, and I heered 'em talk consarin a cloak o' yours."

A vicious blow with her whip—in the face of the man she loved.

"Eh, Nick, a cloak, d'ye say?" "Ay, 'twas cloak as 'twas found along o' your murdered cousin in the wood."

Sir Richard stared. "But I wore no cloak."

"How's ever, 'twas found there, sir—an old military cloak turned up w' scarlet."

"Why, I have such a cloak, Nick. I left it lying in the rose-garden at Wear. And what o' my ring?"

"Sir there was no mention of it—John's heered nought of any ring, nor nobody else, as I could hear."

Sir Richard stared vaguely. "Pray, what manner o' night is it, Nick?"

"Fair, your honour, and with a moon. Friend, ye're never venturing abroad!"

"Sir," protested Nick. "The country hereabouts is plaguier unhealthy for you, just now. There be constables coming from London. Titus Oldcraft himself is with 'em and—"

"Ha, Nick lad, d'ye say so?" cried the Parson in glad voice. "Why, here's joyful news—'tis in my mind that if ever Titus goeth back to London—town he'll go—foot foremost... in a box."

Sir Richard checked his horse and whistled; instantly from the shadow of a great tree rode a man. Sir Richard spoke in joyous greeting:

"Ha, Gregory, old lad!" and, leaping from saddle, he hurried forward, then halted suddenly.

"Richard!" said a soft voice, and into the moonlight rode my lady Helen; reining up her mare beside him, she leaned down, her handsome face seeming wonderfully gentle.

For a long moment he stood dumb and motionless, then he bowed, and, turning from her, seized Gregory's ready hand.

"Well, Greg, and how wags the world? Hast brought the money, Greg?"

"Twelve guineas, sir; 'tis all I widge."

"'S heart, Greg, 12 guineas is a fortune—in the wilderness!" he nodded, "and so, good night to thee, old friend!"

"Ay but—but," stammered Gregory, "will you not explain to us how—"

"Nothing, Greg! Were we alone I might say much; as 'tis—fare thee well!" And, bowing to my lady, Sir Richard proceeded to mount and ride away.

He had gone very little distance when, to his surprise, he found my lady beside him. So they rode awhile, neither speaking. At last

Sir Richard pulled up, my lady did the same, and Gregory joined them; then Sir Richard spoke:

"Madam, you were better indoors at such hour. Be good enough to go your ways and suffer me to go mine." Whereat my lady shook her head and sighed.

Sir Richard set his horse to a trot, my lady cantered her mare beside him and Gregory ambled behind. And, after some while, Sir Richard stopped again.

"He means to affront me, Gregory," sighed my lady. "Oh, 'tis an ill-conditioned, a very dullard that knoweth not his friends."

"Ha, madam, friends?" cried Sir Richard. "Here you behold friendship's sorriest victim!"

"Why wilt decry friendship, Richard?" she murmured, leaning towards him, wherefore he, very aware of her appealing beauty, scowled hard.

"Ah, Richard," she murmured in voice tender as cooling dove, "why dostst thou ravish from me thy ring in manner so ungentle?"

"Oh, madam," he answered harshly, "if talk you must, speak plain: what o' my ring?"

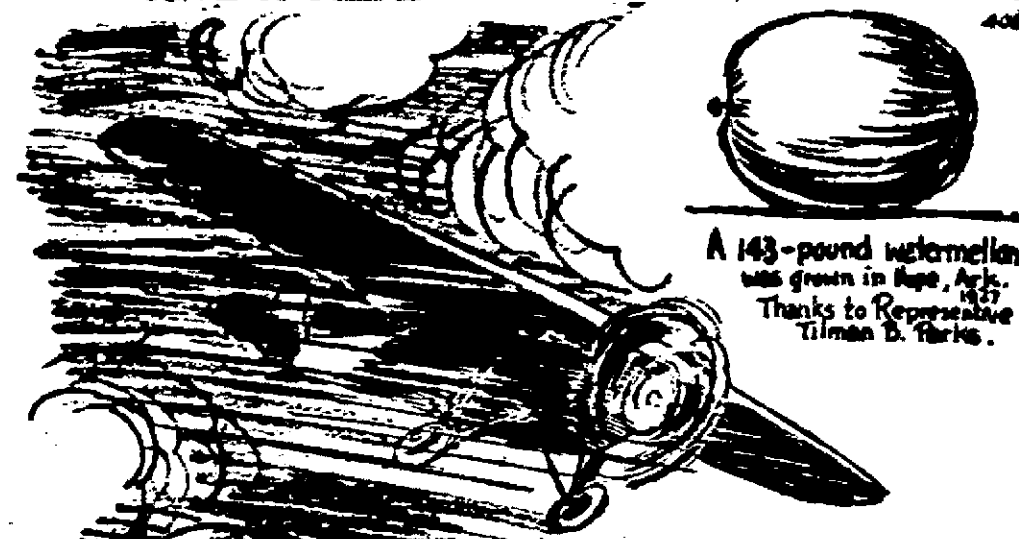

"You stole it from me in the lane that fatal evening."

"What said I? Smiled I or frowned I? How looked I?"

"You went masked and—"

Fox Injured, Chauffeur Killed

Westbury, N. Y., July 17 (AP).—William Fox, theatrical and motion picture magnate, and a friend were injured today in a collision between the Fox automobile and another car in which three women were riding. The women were uninjured.

The collision occurred at an intersection and Joseph Boyes, Fox's chauffeur, was instantly killed when the car he was driving overturned. Fox and a friend, J. L. Rubinstein, a theatrical manufacturer, were taken to the Nassau county hospital at Westbury, where it was said their injuries were not serious.

The car in which the women were riding was driven by Miss Mildred Kane of New York city. It remained upright. Miss Kane and her two companions were taken to headquarters of the Nassau county police in Westbury for questioning.

Maria Ouspenskaya, the famous star of the Moscow Art Theatre arrived at the Elverhof Theatre, Wilkes-Barre, Tuesday to begin rehearsals for "The Romantic Young Lady," which opens next Monday evening.

Miss Ouspenskaya, one of the stars of the American Laboratory Theatre in New York, came to this country about the same time as Richard Boleslavsky, the Russian wizard who staged "The Vagabond King," "Mr. Moneybags" and a host of others. She will play the same role in "The Romantic Young Lady" that she played last summer at the Newport Casino.

MED WOMAN FATALLY BURNED AT CENTRAL VALLEY HOME

Mrs. Sarah A. Griffin, 77, of Central Valley, died Tuesday in St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, from burns received Monday in the rear of her home when she attempted to burn some papers. For an hour and a half she was alone and unaided, unable to call for help. Her clothing caught fire from the burning papers and there were evidences that despite her years she battled with the flames and succeeded in extinguishing them but not before her body had been frightfully burned. She lived with her only son, Charles S. Griffin, who was absent from home at his work at the time. Mrs. Griffin was the widow of Charles S. Griffin and was born in Plattkill.

LARGE AMERICAN DELEGATION TOURING IN RUSSIA

Moscow, July 17 (AP).—An American delegation of 99 business men, lawyers, engineers and newspaper editors arrived here today from Berlin for a thirty-day inspection tour of Russia. Some of them were accompanied by their wives and families.

The delegation, which is traveling under the auspices of the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Express Company, was met at the Aleksandrovsky station by representatives of the Western Chamber of Commerce and Russian authorities.

The party represented almost every state in the union and included 10 women.

KING GEORGE'S CONDITION CONTINUES SATISFACTORY

London, July 17 (AP).—It was officially stated at Buckingham Palace today that the improvement noted yesterday in the condition of King George, after the operation on him Monday, continued to be satisfactory. No formal bulletin was issued.

It was understood on good authority that the wound made by the operation now is clean and that it has been necessary to insert a drainage tube.

The Prince of Wales called this morning at the palace but left after the departure of the doctors, who went to the palace early and remained about an hour.

FOUR DEAD IN FIRE FOLLOWING EXPLOSION

Corwall, Ont., July 17 (AP).—Fire following an explosion was responsible for the deaths of four persons and injury to four others when four houses were destroyed early today.

Ona Givogue and his wife, an aged couple, their grandchild, Rita Givogue, nine months, and Cecile Piche, two, were burned to death. Amelias Piche and his wife were burned badly but are expected to recover. Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Givogue, parents of Rita, were slightly injured.

TWO BROTHERS DROWN

Orleansburg, N. Y., July 17 (AP).—Removal of the bodies of two brothers from the St. Lawrence river here today terminated an all night search for them. The boys were Jack and Robert Hallahan, 14 and 12 years old, of this city. They left their home yesterday to distribute advertising handbills and failed to return. The deaths were the second and third in a family, another brother having been burned to death several years ago.

WAR CLOUDS MOVER OVER MANCHURIAN BORDER

Harbin, Manchuria, July 17 (AP).—Troop movements in Siberia have been on a semi-warlike scale for some weeks, according to reports received here by neutral observers.

The Russians cancelled all leaves of absence in the military district of Siberia weeks ago and began to move soldiers toward various important strategic points along the Manchurian frontier.

The commander in chief of the Siberian military district is now Kouzbishev, a Communist, who recently relieved Petin, who is not a member of the party.

Observers say the Russians have been paying particular attention to the organization of Mongolians into regular troops under Russian officers.

For months Russian forces in Siberia have been gradually increased, there being now at Chien several divisions varying from 4,000 to 20,000 men. There are four battalions and an aviation squadron at Blagovestchensk.

Since April, the Siberian military commander has paid particular attention to the Mongolian border. Headquarters of the secret police have been established in Troitsk, a small town where large units of Mongols and Bouriat, officers by Mongols, Bouriat and Russians who had military training at Moscow, were reported to have been formed. These officers were graduates of the Asiatic Propaganda School, all being Communists.

One of the largest concentrations of Russian troops is said to be near Unga, consisting chiefly of members of the Young Men's Communist Association, of a variety of races, including Mongols, Bouriat, and Kalmuks. There were cavalry and infantry units and some artillery there.

PLANS KINGDOM ON SUNKEN ISLAND SEEN IN OCEAN

Cleveland, Ohio, July 17 (AP).—M. F. Bramley, who dreamed of an unknown island off the California coast and later discovered it as a reef lying beneath the water, has visions of raising the surface and creating on the new land an independent kingdom in which he will be supreme power, he said today.

Bramley, who is a contractor, returned yesterday from a cruise in Pacific waters in his yacht "Peary," in which he surveyed the boundaries of the reef and made preliminary estimates of the cost of creating the island. This could be done, he said, by building a breakway and pumping sand from the ocean.

The reef is 3 feet below the surface, he said, 15 feet lower than he had believed and the cost might be prohibitive. He returned while a final estimate is being made.

Bramley said he supposed he would have to renounce American citizenship to establish his kingdom, but added that he would not oppose any move by the United States government to claim the land if the island is built.

He already has a navy in his yacht, a craft with a colorful history of its own. It was used by Commodore Peary on Arctic expeditions, and was bought by Bramley last year.

SIGNED HALF MILLION NOTE TO HELP CLARKE BROTHERS.

New York, July 17 (AP).—Frenzied efforts of the Clarke Brothers to get collateral on which to obtain a loan to tide them over the crisis in which their private bank failed were recounted at the referee's hearing today by Milton C. Quimby, real estate operator.

Quimby told Referee John L. Lytle that on June 27, two days before the Clarke Brothers Bank collapsed, he signed a $500,000 note for which he got no money in return as an accommodation to James Rae Clarke "to use, if he needs it, in getting a loan."

The note was not used, Quimby said, nor was it returned to him. He said he would not pay it.

Quimby admitted on the stand that he actually owed the Clark Brothers Bank only $185,000. He said he would pay that in full within sixty days.

Quimby said W. J. Heney, a wealthy California land owner, for whom he was trying to sell some land, had endorsed the $500,000 note.

WANTS NEW CENSUS TAKEN BY EX-SERVICE MEN

Washington, July 17 (AP).—Appointment of disabled and unemployed ex-service men in the taking of the new census is sought in a letter addressed to Director Stewart by Representative Annings Prall, Democrat, New York.

He requested that political exigencies be relegated to the rear, and American Legion mothers, widows, unemployed and disabled veterans be appointed to fill every available position for which they may qualify.

"This census will be the most important ever attempted," he continued, "and the country demands a painstaking honest enumeration. If the census is taken thorough and with the cooperation of the American Legion its return will meet the expectation of the country and its reliability will be unquestioned."

TRANSATLANTIC FLYERS ARRIVE IN PARIS

Le Bourget, France, July 17 (AP).—The American transatlantic airplane Pathfinder, with Captain Lewis A. Yancey and Roger G. Williams, landed at the Le Bourget Flying Field this afternoon from Rome. They left Litorio, Italy, at 8:15 a. m.

The airmen expected to fly by way of Marseilles, which would make their route over about 300 miles. Their departure from Italy was just under a week after their arrival from Old Orchard, Maine, with an intermediate stop at Santander, Spain.

Tailored Costume Is Seeking Favor

Line and Cut of First Importance; Fabric Plays Close Second.

While tweeds and jerseys generally thought of as only correct for country wear, now are constructed in suits to be worn in town, strictly tailored suits are making a strong bid for feminine favor. For the first time in many a dreary season, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald Tribune, women's tailors are encouraged to believe that the former popularity of the severe coat and skirt may be revived. The real artist knows that line and cut are of first importance to the success of a tailor. The fabric, however, from which a suit is built plays a very close second. This, too, is a matter of sartorial knowledge.

The beauty of the tweeds and jerseys from the British Isles in a large measure is responsible for this suit revival. England, Ireland and Scotland each send out such wonderful weaves. France, appreciating the value to fashion of these wool materials, now has looms speeding jersey and tweed production. That country is furnishing two new materials for women's clothing. The tweed is a novelty in a rough surface cloth. The jersey is produced in a dual capacity. It is made both plain and figured, the latter being herringbone, shell and zig-zag in design.

Tailored suits are the correct thing for shopping or for practical purposes. The well-dressed woman dons a suit fashioned from tweed or jersey for the occasion of the morning lecture or club meeting.

In the skirts to suits a wider range of choice is permitted. While the straight narrow ones still hold sway many plaited skirts are displayed. In walking these permit greater freedom. Plaits are shown in single, double and triple form. The width of the plait is a matter of personal choice. Again for slenderness one must be watchful not to have bulk, though the tweeds and jerseys of today are composed of such soft and yielding material that these plaits are easily pressed to the appearance of a single laid fold. Whether plaits are boxed, grouped or single, usually the center front and the back of the skirt has an inverted one.

The jerseys and tweeds of today come in a wide variety of colors. Neutral beige and wood browns are prime favorites, and light gray is seen as the warmer days come on. Navy blue in the jersey has the advantage of being becoming to both fair and dark complexions. This tone of blue never loses its place as a favorite.

A very smart sports ensemble for the summer is a jersey tailleur which features a tuxor scarf at the neck, or it may be draped at the hips, like a gypsy girl. The edge of the jacket and skirt fringed.

Semi-Princess, Flares on Style Card for Fall

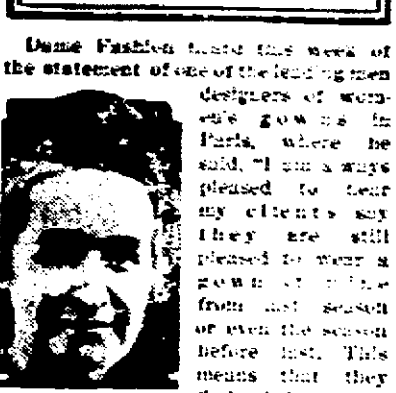

Despite the fact that spring fashions still are receiving some attention, and summer fashions are at their best, consideration is being given to the frocks and wraps for fall, a fashion writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer says:

The semi-princess, which has been with us this spring, will be far more important by fall and will appear in all types of garments save those for sports. Flares will characterize the skirts and even be used in the jacket hem, tiny godets in this case giving the desired fullness.

Both flat and long-haired furs will be used, the flat fur being of the Persian lamb type, while long-haired furs such as fox and lynx will be in vogue. Suede finished wools will fashion the winter coat, while novelty wools, frequently in small checks, will be used for the sports or top coat.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Dame Fashion Smiles By Grace Jewett Austin

Dame Fashion thinks this week of the statement of one of the leading men designers of women's gowns in Paris, where he said, "I am a ways pleased to hear my clients say they are still pleased to wear a gown of mine from last season or even the season before last. This means that they find their gowns of the mystic saying."

Somebody this season has made one of these puzzling sentences that go forward and backward: "Style is the Thing, the Thing is the Style." That leaves the most of us poor mortals no wiser at all. If we said, "Style is the thing I want, and the thing that looks well on me is style for me," it might be a sensible interpretation of the mystic saying.

You remember that psychological story of the practical joker who planned to meet a man, in succession, and tell him he looked nearly dead—and presently he was dead. So if ten women should tell you your hat was unbecoming—even though it suited you to perfection—by that time it certainly would be unbecoming, because all unconsciously your face would be so twisted up with chagrin that no hat would be becoming. There ought to be a society formed (always the first thought of an American) whose members would pledge to meet their friends with some such remark as "How becoming your new hat is to you!" "I like your new dress so much," and within a year, if that society gained a large membership, the beauty of the dwellers in this world would increase to a noticeable degree. We might try joining it without waiting for constitution and by-laws.

Dame Fashion thought the other day when gazing with admiration at an especially elaborate black silk pajama suit, all rich with embroidery in color, and remembering how a friend who had spent some weeks in a woman's clubhouse declared that pajamas were the universal wear there, that there has really been the most dramatic change in women's night wear since the early eighties, in all the list of changing fashions. For there was a time back in the seventies when many women wore bobbed hair—only they called it "shingled" at that time—while many nationalities of women in Europe have worn short skirts for centuries.

Colored ribbon bows, touches of color or embroidery, were ways in which the tide of color sent in little waves over lingerie, until it was at last all submerged by breakers of brilliant hues. Of course Dame Fashion is not forgetting the gay red flannel underwear which was once upon a time supposed to hold such value, but she still insists that no one in the eighties was brave enough to suggest red or black or gold for night wear.

Beginning with Paris, it is well to close with it. This summer Paris is supposed to "love the nasturtium shades." And now ask any lucky grower of that cheerful flower how many shades that represents!

ROOSEVELT EIGHT SETS NEW WORLD'S NON-STOP RECORD

(Run made under official observation. Record subject to final confirmation.)

MARMON-BUILT STOCK CAR PROVES STAMINA IN RECORD-BREAKING RUN

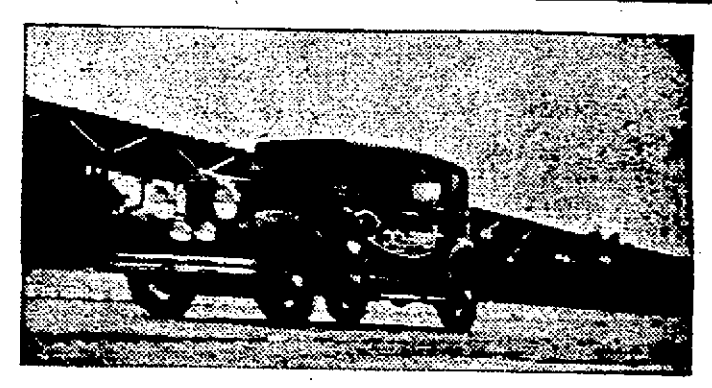

Gas, Oil and Water Taken on Fly—Official A.A.A. Supervision Throughout Run.

New proof—official proof—of Marmon quality workmanship and the outstanding dependability of Marmon's low-priced straight-eight—the Roosevelt.

This car has just established a new world's non-stop record which far overshadows any previous accomplishment of gasoline propelled vehicles on land or in the air.

For 440 hours (over 18 days) this Roosevelt carried on—through blinding rains, pitch black nights and burning suns—over a punishing brick course—taking gas, oil and water on the fly—fresh drivers going in every eight hours—without the car or engine making a single stop. The run was finally brought to an end not by any deficiency in the car itself but by a terrific storm which wrecked the track of the Indianapolis Speedway with wreckage. The best previous record of non-stop car operation was 162 hours.

Keeping up with the Joneses

A larger income may make it possible for the Joneses to have a much finer home than the Browns—but the Browns can own just as fine a car. For it does not require a big income to own a De Soto Six. And with a De Soto Six the Browns have the pride and satisfaction of driving a Chrysler-built automobile—with the ability to out-perform most other cars on the road.

De Soto Six is obviously smart and stylish; up-to-the-minute in mode. And it has not taken the motoring public long to find that De Soto Six is also exceptionally comfortable and easy riding, powerful, speedy and safe. Record-breaking sales figures for a first-year car are proof enough of its established and growing popularity.

Combine these qualities with low price, low maintenance cost and assured long life. The reason is plain why those who insist on smartness and performance, but must consider economy, are finding De Soto Six the most satisfactory car.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

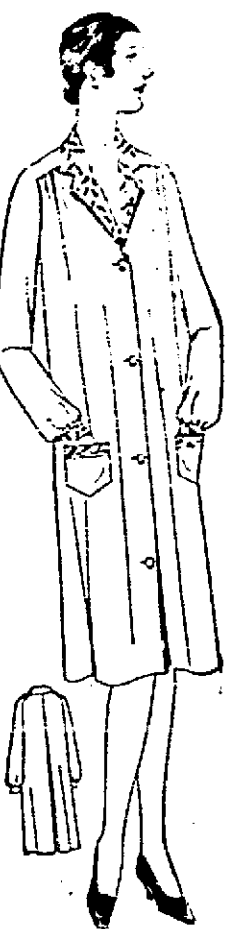

Added Impetus to Formal Fashions
As Men Go High Hat.

New York—(Continued) reports of the fashions worn during the six and most fashionable week of the French racing season, brought with each term as the "fashions of tomorrow." It was from all accounts a gala gathering that trailed each other about from Harcourt to Longchamp, in and out of Paris, and finally to the opéra where costumes of the first Napoleon Empire inspired a beautiful tableau and will no doubt inspire the French dressmakers to elaborate, if such a thing is possible, on Empire fashions.

It is amusing to read that men were caught in the mesh of all this and being the order of the day, and dinner was being thrown in the kitchen in favor of the ball room for weeks. Nothing so profitable the age of elegance. Women will not naturally dress up to such extent and wear with lengthened skirts and broader hats and princess lines, and elaborate details generally, and may well prepare to be surprised when they see the fashion of the future. The new fashion is to be a return of those glowing colors and gowns that flattered the ladies of the 18th century. The new fashions were decided yesterday, and that under the inspiration of a return of military style, and was given pause by the timely introduction of velvet both alone and with straw. A hat is to be a simple hat. It is more to be a hat than a hat. It is more to be a hat than a hat. It is more to be a hat than a hat.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

Serviceable Garment for Ladies and Misses.

6513. Printed cotton is very popular for this model. It is also suitable for gingham, tub silk, pongee and crepe. In dimity or zephyr it is dainty and cool looking. The fronts have soft fullness below the shoulder extensions of the wrist length sleeve which is made in wrist length and finished with a band cuff. A notched collar outlines the neck edge. Serviceable pockets and plait fullness at the centre back are other features of this style. The sleeve may be finished in short length as pictured in the small view.

The pattern for this design is cut in 4 sizes for Misses: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and for ladies: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust.

elegance and were either inspired to, or made to dress up to their partners.

Women's Trouser Fad Encourages Cotton Men

Cotton manufacturers trace the evolution of the women's trouser trend from "the bloomer girl of 1894" (inset) on her bicycle in New York. At the left are shown quilted beach pajamas; at the right, beach overalls.

Boston, July 17 (AP)—Trousers for women are becoming an ally of the cotton industry in a fashion world which has continuously decreed short skirts during the past few years.

Beach pajamas, overalls and trousers cut sailor fashion with a pirate tash are the 1929 mode of the evolution of trousers which began with the bloomers worn by the daring few during the bicycle craze.

So widespread is the use of such garb becoming that the style advisory board of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers suggests, in its monthly report issued today, that women throughout the country will don pajamas for house wear, and even porch and lawn use, within a year.

"The present vogue for trousers had its beginning in the bloomers worn with bicycling costumes," the report sets forth. "At that time there was a loud outcry against disappearing femininity, breaking up of the home, subservience of men, etc.

"But the entrance of women into the field of war work was a different story. It was considered a noble duty to discard feminine frivolity. The farmerette appeared, women donned overalls in factories and uniforms were almost general.

"Trousers for women during the period between 1919 and 1921 meant men's knickerbockers, worn for any possible excuse. The idea was there to stay. So fashion decided to capitalize it.

"The demand for sun and air brought the idea out in the open. In Venice, on the Lido, smart society found that it could be both smart and comfortable lying around the beaches all day in pajamas."

The latest costumes are the overalls, printed or plain, with hats of rough straw or cotton fabric. And the logical answer to men's plus fours, the stylists believe, are the long duck or crash trousers cut sailor fashion and worn with a sleeveless tuck-in shirt and pirate sash at tennis or sailing.

measure. To make the skirt for a 34 inch size will require 3 1/2 yards of 27 inch material. To form collar and cuffs with contrasting material will require 3/4 yard 32 inches wide and cut crosswise. The width at the lower edge with plait fullness extended is 2 yards.

These Hands do all the housework in a prize-winning servantless home

Mrs. H. Frank Baker's hands are young and lovely because she uses LUX for every washing task.

"NEARLY every woman uses Lux for her fine things . . . but I use Lux for every soap and water task in my home," says Mrs. H. Frank Baker, Teaneck, N. J., winner of a national good housekeeping prize.

"That's why I find it easy to keep my home looking nice, without spoiling the looks of my hands. Any woman could do it . . ."

Wish you could see Mrs. Frank Baker's lovely home . . . see her adorable children . . . because, then, if you looked at her hands you'd imagine she had several maids! She hasn't even one—yet her busy hands are as young as a girl's.

"It's easy — with Lux," Mrs. Baker says . . .

"Foolish isn't it, to trust your hands to ordinary household soaps — with Lux in the house.

"I find the oftener I use Lux, the nicer my hands look. Lux suds are so soothing . . . they give your hands beauty care while you work.

"It's fun to wash dishes and ice boxes and painted furniture . . . rugs . . . piano keys . . . in sparkling Lux suds. And Lux keeps everything from the baby's shirt to the kitchen sink, looking like new so much longer.

"Such quick suds—and such rich, lasting suds—Lux gives you. It's real economy to use Lux for everything you're the least bit choice of.

"Just for example, I have colored house dresses that are several years old. Still bright and attractive, thanks to Lux. Best of all, every time you use Lux you save your hands. That is why I use Lux so constantly."

Aren't her hands lovely? Yet they do all the work in a prize-winning home. Busy all day long with cooking and dishwashing and cleaning . . . kept young and lovely because "I use Lux for every soap and water task," Mrs. Baker says . . . "Every woman can do the same."

Lux is made by a marvelous special process—made whiter and thinner and purer than anything else. There is no trace of harmful alkali in Lux, nothing to dry up, to coarsen the skin, as there is in many soaps—whether flakes, chips, cakes or powders.

"For baby's things, for all the children's rompers and dresses, I always use Lux. Keeps their clothes like new. And it's wonderful for mother's hands."

"Proud of my shining white refrigerator, thanks to Lux," says Mrs. Baker. "And of my linen closet full of nice linens, both white and colored, that I trust only to Lux. Linens are another thing I wash in Lux . . . and there are so many more ways in which Lux helps me to keep home nicely."

Financial and Commercial
The financial and commercial situation in the United States is generally stable. The stock market is showing signs of recovery after a period of decline. The Federal Reserve Bank is maintaining a conservative policy, and the government is working to reduce the national debt.

HOW

"BOWERY" OLD NEW YORK STREET GOT ITS NAME.
A visit to New York would be incomplete without a visit to the Bowery, known throughout the country as the "toughest street in the world." Yet few of its visitors know that this drab and sordid street was named for its fertile farms hundreds of years before it had gained its bad boy reputation.

When William Kieft (William the Testy) was governor of New Amsterdam in 1627, the town was just a settlement of fur traders. The Dutch West India company was anxious to stabilize the settlers and so it divided the eastern side of Manhattan island, up as far as what is now Fourteenth street, into six farms, called boweries. Gov. Peter Stuyvesant, who followed Kieft, bought "Petersfarm," or the Great Bowery, in 1651, and started the Bowery village where Cooper Union is now.

The road which connected New Amsterdam and the boweries was known as Bowery lane. It later became "the first road which extended the length of the island—the post road, called by the English the Bowery road, and now the Bowery. In time, low, picturesque Dutch houses lined both sides, and later the British army of occupation camped beside them."

How Charcoal Burners Prepare Their Product
Burning charcoal is one of the chief industries in the Thuringian forest in Saxony, Germany. Charcoal is a form of amorphous carbon and is prepared by burning wood with but little access of air. This is known as limited or smothered combustion. The wood is piled in a heap and covered with sand and earth. Fire is applied at an opening near the bottom of the pile and small openings are provided above for the escape of the gases. Wood consists of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen and the carbon remains in the form of charcoal while the hydrogen and oxygen escape in the form of gas. The resulting product is used for fuel, filters, crayons and as a deodorant. High-grade charcoal is used in the manufacture of gunpowder.

How Influenza Got Name
Although most of us have suffered with influenza in the last few years, only a scattered few know where the name originated, or that in America it is simply a newly applied designation for a malady as old as the human race. Dr. Alvin H. Doty, noted industrial health authority, quoted in the Golden Book Magazine, offers this interesting explanation:
"The Italians believed that the symptoms were caused by the influence of the stars, and so they called the malady 'influenza.' The French were more descriptive writers, though less fanciful. They thought the choking sensation that went with it resembled a throttling or gripping of the throat, so they called the disease 'la grippe.' The old English word for the same disease is 'cold.'"

How Military Salute Came
The military salute is supposed to be a survival of a ceremony observed in Rome at the time of Julius Caesar. Due to the large influx of foreigners largely as a result of conquest and to other causes, the Roman population was composed of many races and castes between which at times relations were rather strained.
So, it was the custom when an inferior was in the position of returning a greeting of his social superior to raise his hand palm outward in order to show that his hand contained no dagger. This precaution against assassination was quite commonly taken by the so-called higher classes; and it is the movement of the hand in question which is said to have developed into the military salute.

How Mail Is Formed
The summer mail, or true mail, is caused by the rapid uprush of air in a violent thunderstorm which carries raindrops so high that they freeze. On freezing they fall back to a lower level, where they pick up more water, and again are caught in an upward current and carried up to the freezing level. This is repeated several times until the hailstone gets so heavy that it falls through the rising air down to the earth. The winter hail, properly called sleet, consists of frozen raindrops, the rain having fallen through a surface layer of cold air.

How Far Eye Can See
The distance that the eye can see has not, as far as we know, been definitely measured. It is reported that observers on the Mediterranean coast of France have sighted lights on the Cordouan mountain, 185 miles away, and that observers on Mount Shasta, California, were sighted from Mount Helens, a distance of 220 miles.

How Hot Springs National Park
In 1882 the Hot Springs and four sections of land surrounding them were set aside by act of congress, thus making the first national park reservation. In 1921 the name was changed from Hot Springs reservation to Hot Springs National Park. It contains 800 acres and includes Hot Springs mountain, North mountain, West mountain, Sugar Loaf mountain and White Sulphur Lake park. The springs are grouped about the base of Hot Springs mountain, and their aggregate flow is 651,000 gallons a day.

RITCHIE TO COMMENT ON WICKERSHAM LETTER

New London, Conn., July 17 (AP).—The second session of the 21st Annual Governors' Conference opened today with attention focused on Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, the day's presiding officer, because of his promise of "comprehensive comment" on George W. Wickersham's letter on prohibition enforcement. This comment was delayed, however.

The letter from Mr. Wickersham, who is chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, was read yesterday by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. It suggested that division of prohibition enforcement between federal and state governments, the former attending to importation, manufacture and interstate shipment, and the latter to retail sale, might lead to modification which would make the liquor laws "reasonably enforceable."

Governor Ritchie's comment, planned for delivery at this morning's session, was postponed because the session started late. Governor Ritchie merely introduced the speakers of the day. Three of these, Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett of Connecticut, Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, and the fourth, Harry V. Guggenheim of New York, president of the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, spoke on aviation.

Most of the Governors made statements after the Wickersham letter was read but Governor Ritchie withheld comment until he had opportunity to make it formally before the conference. "I am not going to make myself foolish," he said, "by saying such things as 'speculative' and 'interesting' or some such silly things."

Lightning Frank
One of the strangest of the many fantastic tricks lightning flashes play is the "fulgurite," which is sometimes found on the sands of a beach. It is a tube of a glassy substance, projecting above the ground like a stump of a bush. Beneath the sand it is often several feet long with many branches and twists, much like a root. It is caused by a direct stroke of lightning, the tremendous heat of which fuses the wet sand into a hollow glass tube. Another odd prank of lightning was the bolt which tore the clothes from a man's back without killing him. His perspiration apparently had been instantly transformed into steam by the mighty electric current. The miniature explosion blew off his clothing.

Explaining Seasons' Names
There is some doubt as to how the names of the seasons originated. Spring is from the Anglo-Saxon "spring," meaning "a source of water, a spring, a rising or leaping," probably in reference to the coming out of young shoots at this time of the year. Summer is from the Sanskrit "sumu," meaning "year." Autumn is from the Latin "autumnus"—perhaps connected with "augere," past participle "auctus," meaning "increase," autumn being the season of produce. Winter is from the Gothic "wintrus," probably originally it meant the "snowy time."

MASQUERADED AS GIRL FOR 19 YEARS.
Sellinggrove, Pa., July 17 (AP).—Determined to face the world to which his masquerade of 19 years as a girl has been exposed, Marion Bodmer today prepared to return to an Allentown, Pa., preparatory school to continue a summer course.
School, Marion believes, offers a safer haven from the curious than his home here, where last year he was graduated from high school as a girl.
Besides, he hopes to earn sufficient credit during the summer term to enable him to enter a Pennsylvania law school this fall.

Pleading that he was not responsible for his dissimulation, Marion has refused to see interviewers.
His father, C. A. Bodmer, chief Burgess of Sellinggrove, has assumed all blame for the masquerade. He said that Mrs. Bodmer did not have the courage to alter an announcement, given out at the birth, that Marion was a girl.
Marion was revealed as a boy when the curious minded sought an answer to this riddle: How could a girl enroll in a boys' school? It was then that his parents said that Marion was a boy.

Mr. Bodmer said that Marion shared his parents' embarrassment when he became old enough to understand. In high school the boy had a natural talent for basketball, and practiced with the girls. He was picked for the girls' team.
Later the boy refused to associate with girls, and spent most of his time driving his automobile.
Marion, tall and blond, has a splendid physique, and is proficient in athletics.

Large Audience At Musical

The largest audience yet gathered before the Woodstock Ensemble in their Tuesday night appearance at the Woodstock Playhouse, was assembled this week; the guest vocalist for the evening's program was Elida Vettori (soprano) of the Metropolitan Opera House, whose presence drew the large numbers.

Miss Vettori sang a varied program of songs, and after her first number, which began with Respighi's "Sinfonietta" and ended with "Habenera" from Bizet's Carmen, she was roundly applauded. It was with a second appearance that her personality had begun to work its way into the ken of the audience, who was somewhat slow to grasp what was before them. The singer's voice was rich and full, toned with something like a restrained emotion, and a sincere personality. Certainly Miss Vettori's personality on the stage was charming and her graciousness captivated the audience before she had really entered her program. It was a charm that came slowly, but grew with a gradually increasing power; the singer and the audience became better acquainted. She generously gave several encore numbers, including "Dawn," and "Life," both of which she acted, as well as sang.

For the instrumental part of the program, Pierre Henrotte played violin for G. Kunz, Charles King at piano and Aaron Bodenhorn played cello. The first part was from Schubert's "Scherzo." In the second part two Spanish dance numbers, the Arbos, the musicians showed the best manners. Bodenhorn, the cellist, actually loosed his technique the first time since the season's concert (the plays with the Maverick Quartet and reminded one of Brit as far as performance went. Both Henrotte and King performed with equal facility and their numbers delighted the audience.

There were present a number of Kingston and Saugerties folk. Following the recital, a number of the audience went backstage to offer congratulations to Miss Vettori, who singing had pleased them so highly.

Gascos Down Hercules and Strengthen Lead

The hitting of Joey Hoffman and Jimmy Doyle's pitching enabled Gascos to take the Hercules 3-2, and extend their winning streak to four games Tuesday evening at the Athletic field. The victory strengthened the Gascos' grip on first place and practically eliminated the powermen in the second round of the Industrial League as they now have two games in the last column.

Hoffman was the big gun of the game, piling a two-bagger and a homer. He also scored two of the Gascos' runs. Bob Lynch was a close second to Hoffman, collecting a double and a single and scoring the Gascos' other run for his evening's work.

While Hoffman and Lynch were attending to the run-scoring Jimmy Doyle was pitching his best to keep the powermen away from home plate. His task was not an easy one for he was extended to the last out. Jimmy permitted five hits.

Ken Best, Hercules' pitching ace, did not hurl his usual good game, being wild at times, allowing four Gascos free tickets to first base. Except for the hitting of Hoffman and Lynch he held the Gascos pretty well in check. Six hits in all were made off his delivery.

Hoffman opened the game with a double to left field and advanced to third on Lynch's single. Lynch stole second on the first pitch ball. Wood struck out, but Slicker came through with a sacrifice fly to Dulin, which scored Hoffman and put Lynch on third base. Lynch was stranded when Smith fanned.

The Hercules retaliated in their half of the first inning by tying the score. Peterson singled to left field, stole second and scored on Slicker's bad throw in trying to get Dulin at first base, after he made a clean pick-up of his grounder.

Best issued his second walk of the game in the third inning and it developed into a run. Lynch was the lucky batter. He stole second and scored when Slicker's grounder got away from Peterson at short stop.

Hoffman manufactured a run all by himself in the third inning and it proved later to be the deciding tally. He caught hold of one of Best's slants and drove it to left field on a line drive, circling the bases while Hercules was running after the ball. It was a hard ball to field.

Peterson got the Hercules' second run in the sixth inning. He poked his second single of the game, this time to right field, stole second and third, and scored when Quinn dropped Hoffman's throw to third base.

SIDELINERS.
The Hercules tried to combat the strong sun by putting a black paste under their eyes.

Wood made a nice running catch of Hercules' fly in the third, robbing him of a hit.

Quinn and Peterson also knocked down balls that were labeled base hits. Quinn stop Dulin's sizzling grounder and Peterson got one on Flanagan.

The Gascos' infield had to be rearranged, due to an injury Flanagan received Sunday in a game with the Bushwicks. Hoffman replaced Flanagan behind the plate and Quinn took Hoffman's place at third base.

An unusual play occurred in the sixth inning. After the second out the umpire called for the ball and Smith, who was on third base, darted for home. But he was called back to third after the situation was explained.

Diegel Has Competition For Canadian Open Title

The two Smiths—Horton and Mac—will be battling with Leo Diegel, the champion, for possession of the Rivermead Cup, emblematic of the championship, in the Canadian open, July 25-27.

Pan-Am Game on Leaders in the Pan-Am Diamond

It was announced this morning by Manager Ashdown that the Pan-Ams would play the Hood Tire Team of Poughkeepsie on the Pan-Am diamond on the Saugerties road, Sunday afternoon. It was at first stated that the game would be played at the Kingston Fair Grounds but it has been definitely decided that the contest will be played at the Pan-Am park.

It is said that the Hood Tire team is one of the strongest clubs in Dutchess county and the Pan-Ams are expecting a tough battle. Several of Poughkeepsie's fastest semipro hold positions on the Hood team.

REIGH COUNT HOME.
HIS RACING DAYS OVER.
Chicago, July 17 (P).—Reigh Count, champion of the American turf in 1928, is home—his racing days over.

The big red colt, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz, yesterday was led from a special car at the station at Cary, Ill., from where he set out a year ago last April to build his claim as ruler of the country's thoroughbreds.

His arrival at the stables of the Leona Farms marked the end of his return journey from England, where he just failed to gain the victory he was sent after, the Ascot gold cup. Mrs. Hertz said Reigh Count would not race again unless English or French stars of the track invade this country next year.

KOENIGS TO PLAY RONDOUTS SUNDAY.
Sunday at Hasbrouck Park the Koenigs and Rondouts will resume their series. Art Golnek's men are in good shape and things look bright for a victory over the Koenig team.

Dick Williams' men are in hopes of scalping the cross town boys so that they will have the credit of being the first team to take Golnek's men over three straight.

Manager Golnek will have Coughlin and Corrigan to choose from with Duffin behind the bat. Manager Williams will probably use Canantz on the mound with Didzik catching and he will have Nick Huber in reserve.

All-Stars at Gardiner.
The Kingston All-Stars will trip to Gardiner Sunday afternoon where they will play the team of that place. It was said that this was the only open date that Manager McCordie had in his books for his team this month. Jim Volker will leave them over for the local aggregation while Mitchell will probably do the pitching for Gardiner.

Oil Men Turn to Alfalfa in Search for Riches
Contra Costa, Calif.—A California oil company, while waiting for development, is planning to add to its income by planting 100 acres of alfalfa on its holdings five miles from here. This reverses the usual condition in an oil region. Ordinarily farmers are looking to oil development to bring them wealth.

Amber and Meerschaum
Amber can be made to burn when heated to a high temperature in the air. It is a fossil resin from trees of the pine family and is dug up from the shores of the Baltic sea and the North sea and a few other places. It is a compound of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. Meerschaum is a compound of magnesium, silicon and oxygen and resembles a white clay. It is found chiefly in Asia Minor, where it occurs in masses of clay. Of course, the only connection between the two substances is the fact that they are both used in making pipes.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHAPMAN.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Under dogs had their day in the National League yesterday as all of the leading teams stumbled in a heap preventing any contender from gaining. In the American League the Athletics retained their lead of eight games by defeating Cleveland, 7 to 5, in ten bitter innings at the Yankees' coasted home by 11 to 7 at Detroit. The Yankee team was not nearly so close as the score.

In the general confusion of contenders along the National League front, the defeat of the Pirates was most notable. The Bluejays had a record of eight straight in the east until Bob Smith pitched the Braves to a 4 to 1 decision yesterday.

Brame was pounded for all the Boston runs in the very first inning, and Smith clinched the decision by stepping on the bases with four hits.

Claude Willoughby aided by the home runs from the bat of Charlie Klein, was just a shade too tough for Pat Malone and the Phillies won by 5 to 5. Benge was called in to help Willoughby in the ninth when the Cubs began making threatening gestures. The ultimate winning margin was presented to the Phils by Frank O'Doul, who hit for four bases in the seventh.

Klein's two homers ran his total for three games to five, tying the major league record held by Babe Ruth and several other players.

Klein also established a new modern mark by ringing up three homers at three successive times at bat, the last time up on Monday and the first two yesterday. Elmer Smith hit three circuit blows in three official times at bat for Cleveland in 1921, but a base on balls intervened. Ruth turned the same trick in the 1926 world series.

Klein's two homers yesterday ran his total for the season to 28, giving him a margin of three over Ott for the inter-league lead.

Sylvester Johnson hit winning form at the Polo Grounds yesterday when he let the Giants down with seven scattered hits, and won his own game by smacking out a home run with one on in the fourth. Fred Fitzsimmons had an off day, and the Giants missed a chance to shave something from the lead of both of the teams ahead of them.

Jack Hendricks continued his campaign to escape from the cellar, and approached to within three points of his goal. The Reds took both ends of a double-header from the Robins in Brooklyn, 5 to 3 and 7 to 2. Red Lucas outpitched Dazzy Vance to win the opener, and Eppa Rixey was much too good for Johnny Morrison in the nightcap.

The victory of the Athletics was notable for the failure of Bob Grove to win his game—for the first time in several starts. The eminent left-hander gave way to the veteran Quinn when the Indians went on the war path in the fifth, and Quinn resigned for a pinch batsman just in time to permit George Walberg to profit from Joe Shaute's slip in the tenth.

Ed Wells was as wild as usual in Detroit, giving eight passes and committing one wild pitch, but Babe Ruth's twenty-first homer and fifteen other hits made up for this.

LOCAL FIREMEN TO GET IN SHAPE FOR UTICA
The local fire department besides answering alarms will practice some baseball so as to be in shape for their first game with the Utica firemen which will be played at the Kingston Fair Grounds on August 19. Chief Murphy wants all the men, both paid and volunteer, to practice and hunker up. On August 24 at Utica the Kingston team will again play the fireman of that place.

Rumor has it that Chief Murphy has his battery selected all ready. Freddie Stout of the Twaalskills, who won many a game for the Colonials in the old days, will probably be on the mound for the Kingston team. Dick Hinkley of the Rapids, who has been with the R. A. C. and the Kingston All-Stars, will be behind the bat to receive Freddie's tosses. As yet the rest of the team has not been selected.

BASKETBALL GAME AT FLEISCHMANN'S FRIDAY

It is something unusual to hear of a basketball game at this time of the year, but it is so, for the Chandlers, composed of the same men that played during the winter are going to play Fleischmanns Friday night at that place. The game will be played at Camp Carcade.

It is said that the Fleischmanns team is made up of a number of real basketball players. At the same time the Chandlers can hold their own against any team. Probably lack of practice will tell on the Kingston boys.

All the members of the Kingston team are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night. The following men will make up the Chandler lineup: Fox, Dulin, Krum, Niles, Kennedy and Hoffman.

VOSDICK OUTPITCHED BY JACK GOLDEN.
At Woodcliff Park Tuesday night in the feature bout, Jimmy Sullivan, southern boy who won from Frankie Konchina at the park two weeks ago, stopped Lou Ferry of New York on a technical K. O. in the fifth round. The fight was scheduled to go ten rounds. Throughout the first two rounds the match seemed to be fairly even, but after that it was Sullivan's show.

Joe Vosdick of Saugerties was outpointed by Jack Golden in one of the six rounders. It seems that Golden packs a hard punch and Vosdick receiving this blow a few times was in a bad way.

Cardinals Play Tonight.
The Ponchokkie Cardinals will play the Y's Men at the Fair Grounds tonight. The game will be called at 6:45. Bouchard and Mogan will do the twirling and Krippele the receiving for the Cardinals.

Wiley Moore put on the finishing touches for Wells when the latter became troubled by a blister on his pitching hand in the ninth.

The White Sox worked hard to edge out the Senators by 6 to 5 in ten innings, and the Browns consolidated their collapse by yielding another game to the Red Sox. Milton Gassner hurled a three-hit game to win by 11 to 2. It was the second three-hit performance against the Browns in the three games of the series played thus far.

Loughran Rated 7 to 5 Favorite

New York, July 17 (P).—Tommy Loughran, busiest of all the fight champions, will defend his light heavyweight crown against James J. Braddock of Jersey City at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night in what may prove to be his last battle as a professional.

Winner or loser with "Jersey" Jimmy, Loughran is authority for the statement that he will engage in any more bouts as a light heavyweight.

Despite his frequent title defenses and lucrative bouts, Loughran has made little money out of his championship. He was paid $10,000 in October of 1927, the big money deal with the heavyweights, and Tommy is convinced he can make more than hold his own with any of the current crop in that division.

He has said that if he beats Braddock he will fight again as a light heavyweight in September and then cast his lot definitely with the heavyweights. If he loses he has said he expects to take a vacation and see what he can do in the way of putting on more weight and adding a punch to his battle repertoire so that when he meets the big fellows he will not be under such a handicap.

Another element in Loughran's decision has been his reported difficulty in making the weight. Although there seems to be no reason to doubt that Tommy will be down to 175 pounds for Thursday's battle there is no question that the task has weakened him to some degree.

Betting odds on the day before the fight favor Loughran at 7 to 5. Although the Jersey puncher has no lack of supporters, his sole hope of victory over the clever Loughran seems to lie in a knock-out. However much he may have improved in boxing skill he can have no hope of outpointing a sharpshooter like Loughran. In this connection it is observed that Leo Lonski outpointed Braddock a few months ago and Lonski does not rank in the same class with Loughran in boxing skill.

CAMPOLLO WILL FIGHT ARTHUR DEKUH TONIGHT.
New York, July 17 (P).—Arthur DeKuh's latest threat for the heavy weight championship, Victorio Campollo, six feet seven and one half inches tall, makes his American debut at Ebbett's field tonight with Arthur DeKuh, big Italian-American as the party of the second part. It is a 10-round match.

Campollo's name is not unknown to North American ring fans. He was howling over heavyweights with reckless abandon until he clashed with Monte Munoz some months ago. Munoz knocked him out and seemed that his career was done before it had gotten properly started. However Campollo came back into the limelight when he knocked out Roberto Roberti, tough Italian brawler.

DeKuh generally is credited with having as hard a wallop as any heavyweight now in the ring, but he is a somewhat fragile chin. He generally knocks out the other fellow and goes to dreamland himself. The only near-sure thing about the fight is that it won't go the limit.

O.G. accepts Challenge at stronghold of its rivals

Show-down test . . . at Roosevelt Field, New York, reveals the true cigarette preference of Aviators.

The question is often asked: "Does OLD GOLD pick out its strongholds, the places where it out-sells its three rivals, when it makes its 'Concealed Name Tests'?" The answer is "No!" OLD GOLD doesn't seek "set-ups" but "show-downs."

As a two-year-old youngster, "O. G." couldn't be expected to match "sales totals" with the three veteran brands, each from 12 to 16 years old. Give a young fellow time! But when it comes to comparing quality . . . that's "O. Gs." meat.

For example, look what happened at Roosevelt Field, New York's greatest airport. Here, "O. Gs." rank third in sales. But when 68 Roosevelt aviators and their mechanics took the "Concealed Name Test," OLD GOLD won, hands down, as the most appealing cigarette! The score, as audited by certified public accountants, was: OLD GOLD 23 first choices . . . Brand "X", 13 . . . Brand "Y", 17 . . . Brand "Z", 15.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, July 17 (State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—New York upstate green peas met sharp competition from consignments from Washington. The most critical buyers favored the western peas and in consequence state offerings closed weaker. Wholesale business on Madison county green peas was transacted at $2.50 - $3.75 a bushel basket, while Washington stock brought $3.50 - $4.00 a bushel hamper.

The market on state big Boston lettuce was without any improvement. A large volume of the sales on crates of 24 heads was reported at 50c - 75c. Occasionally some fancy reached $1.00. Some poor worked out at 25c and in a few instances even lower.

The season's first carload of sand pears from Georgia arrived today. The fruit was excellent in quality and changed hands promptly at $3.75 - $4.00 a bushel crate.

Pear production promises to be the poorest in years in New York state. At present only about 1,228,000 bushels are forecast, compared with about 1,800,000 bushels harvested last year. The Bartlett pear crop is especially light. The prospects are also poor in the other important pear growing states except Washington and Oregon.

The national pear crop is now forecast at about 19,781,000 bushels, compared with about 24,012,000 bushels harvested last year.

Fancy tender beans of most kinds met a moderate outlet but ordinary and coarse received scant attention. Supplies were moderate. Hudson valley green round string beans peddled out at $2 - $3 and the wax 50c - $2.

Berries of all varieties from the Hudson valley were in rather light receipt. Blackberries jobbed out as high as 25c a quart and gooseberries at 25c. Red currants sold at 10c - 15c and black currants at 20c - 25c. Red raspberry prices declined further due to the liberal supply from Washington. Hudson valley red raspberries brought 10c - 25c a pint and Washingtons 10c - 20c.

The short supply of lima beans sold rapidly at higher prices. Shipments from Maryland jobbed out at $5 - $6.50 and from New Jersey at $5 - $5.50.

Coal Age reports that the demand for bituminous coal changed only a little in the last month and that prices held fairly steady. Business conditions throughout the country are favorable, says the review, and the situation is expected to result in an increased demand. Directors of Proctor and Gamble have voted to split the common stock five for one. The new shares are to be put on an annual dividend basis of $2.

The Southern Pacific Company is soon to place in operation on one of its fast passenger trains between San Francisco and Portland, Ore., the first inter-car telephone system. A telephone will be provided in each Pullman car.

Arrival today of $3,750,000 in gold from Argentina for the International Acceptance Bank and the prospective shipment of an additional $1,500,000 to the Bank of America, announced yesterday, brings the total of gold moving here from that country to more than $25,000,000 since January 1. Imports from June 1 to July 10 amounted to $20,023,000. Bankers explain that the movement causes no uneasiness since the South American Republic has had larger gold holdings than it needed.

News from the World on Wheels

Chrysler Motors continue to run far ahead of previous records in the shipment of Chrysler-built passenger cars, trucks and commercial vehicles, according to the figures released for the month of June. Shipments for the first half of 1929 totaled 279,635 cars, an increase of 53,354 units or 23 1/2% above the 226,281 cars shipped by Chrysler and Dodge combined during the first half of 1928. The figures show that Chrysler not only began the year with a decided gain over 1928, but steadily increased that percentage of gain in each succeeding month until in June it reached 58%, the shipments in that month amounting to 42,351 compared with 26,829 for the combined Chrysler and Dodge shipments in June, 1928, an increase of 15,521 units. The Plymouth line of low priced cars again made the most startling gain—282% over the 1928 June record—13,763 of this line having been shipped in the month just closed, with a grand total of 70,022 for the six months' period.

Graham-Page set a new quarterly production record in the three months ending June 30, and also completed the first six months of 1929 with a total exceeding any previous half year. In addition, the overseas and Canadian shipments for six months not only set new records, but even exceeded the totals for all twelve months of last year. The second quarter's total production was 29,214 cars, surpassing the previous high record of 26,741, made in the third quarter of last year. For the first half of 1929, the production total is 54,498 cars, a gain of 15,759, more than 40 per cent, over the first six months of last year. Monthly production thus has averaged over 9,000 cars. The 50,000th 1929 model was built June 7.

Pierce-Arrow's rise to dominance of the fine car field, which has been one of the outstanding developments in the year's shift of automobile fortunes, is reflected in the company's report of business for the first half of 1929. During the first six months the company shipped more cars than during the entire twelve months of 1928. The total was 6,025 cars as compared with the total of 5,491 for all of 1928. As compared with shipments for the first half of 1928, the score stands 6,025 to 2,725. The comparison becomes ever more striking when unfilled orders are taken into consideration, for there were 1,329 of them on July 1, 1929, as compared with 139 a year ago. Shipments for June, 1929, were 1,430 cars, more than two and one-half times greater than the 537 car shipments of June, 1928.

Yuck. It would seem the time to drop the use of the stork as a symbol relative to the advent of babies is when the baby happens to be an elephant or hippopotamus.—Toledo Blade.
